

ARTISTS ELEVATED AWARD – Invitation Only

Supported by the GCAC Community Fund at the Columbus Foundation

Purpose

The Artists Elevated award recognizes individual artists by investing in their creativity and artistic vision through an unrestricted cash award of $20,000 to two artists in 2022.

Description

In 2021, the Greater Columbus Arts Council launched Artists Elevated, an endowment campaign to uplift professional artists through a larger individual investment. Artists Elevated awards will be funded by the GCAC Community Fund, the Arts Council's endowment at the Columbus Foundation. Awards are focused on providing more substantial funds to Columbus-based artists who have been working professionally for at least three years. The goal of the Artists Elevated award is to provide a more financially meaningful investment in artists to help move them forward in their career.

Nomination process

Over 300 local nominators (including nonprofit arts organizations, arts administrators, curators, producers, arts supporters, gallery owners, performance venue owners, and publishers) will nominate local artists. All nominated artists will receive an email invitation to submit application materials.

This award program is INVITATION ONLY. Artists who are nominated through the official nomination process must also meet the following requirements:
